History

VARIANDO LTD

Variando has been supporting music and performing art since 2002.

Variando is a production company founded by artists. It all began from music and publishing music on cd and dvd discs two decades ago. As time went by, there were more and more musicians involved, which in turn made it possible to launch a music program service. At some point in time music publishing was dropped out, but some other services supporting music and performing art took its place.
